The little monsters made faces. The little monsters threw blocks. The little monsters shouted. When their pudgy hands came at him, Rocky ran.

Old Nini liked to sit in the bright sunlight. It warmed her bones and knobby fingers. Her eyes weren't so good, so the sunlight helped when she knitted.

Rocky sat at her feet. Now and then he chased yarn balls around the room.

Book Description

RISE (Reading Involves Shared Experience) ebooks are produced by a collaborative effort at Swarthmore College, under the guidance of Prof. Gene Mirus and Prof. Donna Jo Napoli. These books are for children and the adults who share the books with them, whether those adults be caregivers or teachers. To promote shared reading, an experience that enhances developing literacy skills. For more information on RISE ebooks, contact the Department of ASL and Deaf Studies and the Linguistics Department at Swarthmore College.

THE STRUGGLE FOR BLACK STUDIES

The Black Liberation 1969 Archive chronicles the history of the black student protest movement at Swarthmore College by finally bringing forward the experiences of the students who organized and executed a series of nonviolent direct actions and negotiations at Swarthmore College. In honor of the College's sesquicentennial, this archive challenges visitors to reconsider the stories that have previously constituted the official narrative and to engage with the black experience of Swarthmore in this critical period. Welcome to NVG

Use this site to search through Navajo verbs and conjugation tables or use our verb generator to construct a verb.

About this Project

NAVAJO VERB GENERATOR

About this Project

The Navajo Verb Generator aims to aid both fluent and non-fluent Navajo speakers in constructing and cataloguing one of the most linguistically difficult aspects of the language: verbs.

Generate a verb

Using our very query form, users can generate Navajo verbs by tense, number, english definition and more.

Add to the database

Users may add individual verb information of their own to our database. Once submitted, our admins will check content for accuracy and approve new entries. Users may also batch import data to or export data from the database. These come in a .tsv file format.
